(Omaha, NE) February 25, 2010 -- Girl Scouts Spirit of Nebraska wants to make it very clear to consumers that the Girl Scout Cookies sold in Nebraska and Iowa are NOT part of a national recall. Nebraska Girl Scout Cookies are “Lemonades” and they are NOT involved. Our cookies are baked close to home by ABC Interbake (www.abcsmartcookies.com) in Sioux City, Iowa

The cookies in question are “Lemon Chalet Cremes” and are baked by Little Brownie Baker—a completely separate manufacturer and variety of cookie.

Here are details about the national recall from Girl Scouts of the USA:

“GSUSA has received some complaints involving Little Brownie Baker’s Lemon Chalet Cremes. The complaints center on the taste and/or smell of the cookies. After doing some fact-finding, we learned that the Lemon Chalet cookies of the 15 lots in question are safe to eat; but do not pass Little Brownie’s quality test.

No other cookie varieties in our product line are affected by this quality withdrawal. This situation affects approximately 6.5% of Lemon Chalet Cremes produced for the current season.

Food safety and quality are of the utmost importance to us. The Girl Scout® Cookie Program is the nation’s premier entrepreneurship and educational program for girls”
